NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS—Judicial statistics prepared by Secretary of State, Clarence J. Brown, show a decline in the number of suits which are carried from the common pleas courts to the courts of appeals. The average number of cases on hand in the appellate courts, over a period of ten years, up to 1931 was 4,294, while the 1931 total was only 3,935. A study of the cases disposed of and those on hand indicates that our upper courts are expeditiously handling the cases which come before them.

The All-Ohio Safety Congress is meeting in Columbus this week, opening Tuesday and closing Thursday evening, hundreds interested in safety projects over the state in various industries attending all sessions. Governor George White opened the Congress and Superintendent Thos. P. Kearns of the Division of Safety and Hygiene of the State Department of Industrial Relations, presided as the chairman. A number of experts from large Eastern corporations were in attendance and participated in the three-day program.

The state's inland lakes and resorts are being prepared for the spring, summer and fall season. Director of Public Works, Ted Brindle, has crews at work repairing retaining walls, dredging channels and cleaning up the parks while the conservation department is stocking the waters with fish and fowl. Thousands of trout are being placed in several rivers which will be closed to fishermen for proper propagation.

H. G. Southard, M. D., Director of the State Department of Health, says that birth records must be furnished by applicants in securing government positions, passports for foreign travel, working permits, school enrollments, federal and state compensation and many other valuable purposes. In April, 1932, the state legislature enacted a law authorizing the filing of birth records with the clerks of the common pleas courts in the respective counties. In 1929 the filing was transferred to the probate court's offices. A new registration law was passed by the legislature on May 1, 1928, and it is now the duty of every physician who attends a birth to file the certificate with the local registrar within ten days after the birth occurs.

There were 189 applications for paroles at the Ohio Penitentiary during the past week, 38 being granted, leaving the population of the institution at 4,325. Warden P. E. Thomas has gardeners at work preparing flower beds for the campus and they will soon blossom out in all the colors of the rainbow. The annual spring cleanup is under way and a number of projects for betterment will soon be completed, including the heat and light tunnel, through which will be fed power to the new State Office Building, now almost ready for occupancy by the state's various departments.

The trees and parkways in East Broad Street in the Capital City will soon be a thing of the past, as bids for their removal will be received next week, $30,000 having been appropriated for the purpose, including the building of a splendid new boulevard. The trees and parkways are known to every visitor to Columbus in the last half century.

Thousands of gardens are planted in counties over the state, many under supervision of the state relief committee named by the governor. The project is being assisted in many communities by service clubs and public spirited citizens. Sites are being tendered daily and there should be no lack of vegetables in the home this year if proper care is exercised in cultivation.

P. M. CONTRIBUTES TO CANDIDATE MARSHALL BY REQUEST

Postmasters are supposed to be under civil service but they are also under congressmen and politicians. The Osborn postmaster faces re-appointment and recently kicked-in with $300 towards the Marshall campaign for congress, not subject to a racket but probably in better standing. Now the postmaster's $300 is unpaid for it was on deposit in a Xenia bank when the institution was taken over by the state. The money, like the campaign funds of the liberal interests, will be paid out in installments but not until after the primary election. Tough luck especially when the depression is on. Polling the leg of postmasters for the hoolie fund is an easier way to get cash than Al Capone used when he slipped beer-runners.

NEW OHIO STATE OFFICE BUILDING IS WRECKED

The new $6,000,000 state office building being completed in Columbus was greatly damaged last Thursday by an explosion of some nature, the exact cause not having been definitely fixed by authorities. Experts say the explosion was not caused by an explosive of any kind set for deliberate damage.

Contractor Frank McCarran, Xenia, informs us that he inspected the new structure a few days ago and that it is a wreck from the sub-basement to the tenth floor. Steel and concrete would not withstand the shock and steel window frames even on the tenth floor were blown out and across the boulevard into the river.

The building was to have been dedicated in June and was intended to house about 2,500 state officials and employees of various departments. Who will have to bear the cost of repairs, estimated at one million dollars or more, is not known. Authorities are studying whether the state must carry part of the expense. The building had never been taken off the contractor's hands.

Some are inclined to believe the building was wrecked as the result of sewer gas, a large city main passing under the building within five feet of the sub-basement floor. A workman was sent below and may have struck a match as there was no lights. He is one of ten workmen that were killed outright or died from injuries as a result of the explosion.

SHERIFFS RAIDS ON 0-0 SCORE

Raiders from the Sheriff's office had a nothing-something score Sunday night when a visit was made to "Pittsburg", calling among a few of the colored population. It is said an inspection party made a tour Saturday night. Out of the stories of the raid is that in one place a bottle that had been thrown in a stove exploded while the officers were in the house. Outside of that there was no disturbance. In another place the officers could have put their hands on a supply several times but did not locate anything.

The unusual thing about the Sheriff is that he can find time to make visits to "Pittsburg" now and then, and in so doing drive through East Xenia and never stop at "Eva's Place" that has never seen eight of the Sheriff's badge and continues to do business without even annoying her customers.

INTERESTING BITS MASSIES CREEK CHURCH HISTORY

The celebration of the 50th anniversary of the disbanding of the old Massies Creek Church, at the Clifton United Presbyterian church last Sabbath brought out much interesting history. David Bradford gave a history of the Clifton church which was a part of the membership of Massies Creek congregation. M. W. Collins read a paper giving in detail some of the events and church history as taken from old papers and letters that belonged to his father.

Music for the occasion was furnished by a quartette representing former families of Massies Creek: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Turnbull, Miss Eleanor Bull and Mr. A. J. Duffy. Miss Etta Bull, the eldest member of the Clifton church and the surviving member of the Massies Creek church was unable to be present.

We have taken some interesting data from the paper read by M. W. Collins:

"I was born in 1863, so I suppose my memories of Massies Creek congregation date from about 1870 or shortly before that time. Of course, many changes had already taken place both in the congregation and the method of worship. For instance, never in my memory, were the psalms "lined out" for singing; or were the tokens used in the communion service. I must confess that my only memory of these tokens is that of finding great numbers of them in an old table and with my brothers, melting them up into bullets to use in target practice when we were good sized boys.

Of the families who attended Massies Creek when I was a boy, I remember 4 families of Bulls, those of Rankin, Amos, William, and Scott. Miss Etta Bull who is at present in this congregation is a member of this last family.

There were the families of Jos. and David Loughhead and of Wm. and John Ferguson. The former was the grandfather of the William Ferguson of your church today. There were also two great uncles of Wm. Ferguson who were bachelors, namely Alex. and Thomas Ferguson.

There were also at that time, the families of Greggs and the Wilsons, Adam Turner (father of David Turner) and two families of Collins, that of my uncle, Jas. Collins and of my father, William, who was the great grandfather of the present John and Roger Collins and David Bradford.

The names of Brown, Galloway and Bradford and many others disappeared from the congregation before my day. Their departure some times were occasioned by death or removal but often by disagreement. I remember one such disagreement between my father and Wm. Ferguson, both members of session. My father was a very strong abolitionist and could not countenance permitting Alex Ferguson, the brother of Wm. Ferguson, to take sacrament because Alex had been a slave holder in Kentucky. So our family left the church and attended at Cedarville during the pastorate of Dr. Hainey, although our membership was never changed, and in a few months we returned to Massies Creek.

Some families left, however, and never came back. This was the case with the Bradfutes. Their departure was a result of a libel dispute of some sort between Mr. Bradford, the great grandfather of the David in your church and Mr. James Marshall. A part of the account of which I shall read from the minutes of session for March 24 and 25, 1861, . . .

Letter from Dr. Smart, Sept. 5, '51. Dear Brethren: It is now twelve years and a half since I settled among you and this is only the second time I have addressed you in regard to pecuniary matters. The first was in the way of relinquishing one-fifth of the promised salary ($500) in consequence of the breach in the congregation at that time. If you will refer to my letter in which that relinquishment is made you will find these to be the conditions, "Provided, the remaining four hundred are punctually paid," and until such time as I shall consider the congregation able to pay the original sum of $500. As to the first I leave to yourselves to say whether it has been complied with. Only I must say, I never said in Presbytery (as I understand some say I did) it was punctually paid. I said it was always paid by the expiration of the year or what is the same thing the half year. The sum of four hundred dollars as paid I have not found sufficient and have therefore had to resort to other means of help which I do not wish long to continue. Two years ago last spring the congregation without my asking it gave me 1-11 of my time, this amounted to about one half of what I relinquished to the congregation nine years ago. But at your last semi annual meeting I am informed that part of my time was recalled. I suppose in so doing the congregation

DRY INTERESTS BEING TRADED FOR VOTES — YES, CARRIE, THERE IS BALM AT GILEAD

A few weeks ago the Herald stated that delegates to the Republican National convention were hand-picked by Walter Brown, postmaster general, as representing President Hoover, and that a deal had been made in Columbus whereby Arthur Hamilton, Lebanon, had been chosen by Brown as the delegate from the Seventh Congressional District in exchange for an endorsement by Warren County of L. T. Marshall. Hamilton, like other delegates had to stand the test as opposed to the present prohibition laws.

Today where do the dry interests in the state and nation find themselves? Secretary Hyde, said to be the only tee-toater in the president's cabinet comes out for the referendum or a change and is now given credit as having written the famous plank adopted by Missouri Republicans on the same subject, to catch liberal voters. This week President Hoover gets one foot on each side of the ditch with the statement that while he does not approve it he will not oppose a wet plank in the Republican platform to be adopted at the convention, which makes him eligible for Al Smith's "brown derby." Senator Borah and other leading dry Senators will battle for their kind of a plank.

The average citizen should be able to see the position the dry cause has already been placed and as Mr. Howard Wildman stated a few days ago, "It looks like we are going to loose prohibition." Postmaster General Brown is openly wet and is using no method to attempt to deceive the public. He is a shrewd politician and usually can hold his own with all comers. To gain his point he came to Ohio to hand-pick the Hoover delegates and each had to pass muster before the name was accepted.

Greene county cannot consistently support L. T. Marshall for congress, as a proxy for D. C. Pemberton, liberal, utility lobbyist, former lobbyist for Cincinnati saloonkeepers, and at the same time cast a majority vote for L. J. Taber. Mr. Marshall's views on prohibition changes are certainly acceptable to the liberal interests or he would not have the liberal support he now has in most of the nine counties in the Seventh District. He has the backing of Walter Brown, who also can use his vote in Congress, if he is successful. Voters must keep in mind the wets are well organized. They are making the best of the depression to breakdown support of the eighteenth amendment among the unemployed. Politicians and candidates want votes. When the dries were in the ascendancy wet politicians became supposedly dry. Now the so-called dry politicians are climbing the wet bandwagon. Marshall has no platform, neither wet or dry planks. Brown would prefer to use him in neutral with Pemberton the steering gear.

The Columbus conference at which Brown applied the acid test for wet delegates and a Marshall endorsement from Warren county had another Greene countian as "aid-de-camp." United States Marshall, P. H. Creswell, who sponsors the Pemberton candidate for congress. Marshall and Creswell were former political enemies in Greene county and their "love for each other today is really pathetic." Brown has both in toe and both jump at the crack of the whip. The followers of the dry cause certainly see that they have reached the forks of the road in Greene county. It must be nerve-wracking to Aunt Carrie Flatter to see her poor whip-poor-will, Leroy, whom she has so long held up during his infant political career, given that motherly training and protection, growing big and fat while nursing at the public teat, that he should be lead astray by his old political enemy whom she had taught to hate, P. H. Creswell, and find her little Moses in the swamp with Walter Brown and D. Pemberton. Yes, Carrie there is balm at Gilead.

L. J. TABER FOR U. S. SENATOR

The announcement that L. J. Taber is to speak in Xenia on Thursday, April 28 in the interest of his campaign as a candidate for United States Senator before the Republican primary next month should be received with interest by most all residents in the county. Mr. Taber is worthy of support not because he represents one branch of the farm organizations, but because he has ideals, experience and ability to represent other interests in Ohio. One of our troubles in Washington today is that far too many members were sent to Congress because they represented on particular view or some one organization.

Mr. Taber is conducting an open campaign and is being opposed by a strong political organization that has no use for his views on many important public matters. Moreover he is a man that cannot be tied by the politicians. He is a supporter of the 18th Amendment and against motives that are for selfish gain, such as political organizations try to control.

His opponent is Gilbert Bettman, present attorney general in Ohio, now serving his second term. His record has been one of legislating and assuming jurisdiction of courts in passing on interpretation of Ohio laws. He is a product of the old Cincinnati George B. Cox gang and openly advocates the wet cause. He has from the platform during his term of office opposed the primary believing that political bosses should select all candidates and not the voters themselves. He has fought the charter government forces in his city, Cincinnati, that won the control of the city municipal government from the Cox followers.

It is time for Greene county to awake to the situation and forget the panic until after the primary. Mr. Taber will not have the support of any political organization in Greene county and must rely on the individual voter. Mr. Bettman will have the Marshall-Gowdy organization support.

"HERALD WANT AND SALE ADS PAY"

The soldier bonus payment as now is demanded by hundreds of thousands of World War Veterans, remains the big topic. If it reaches a vote in the House it may pass but will likely go down to defeat in the Senate. Should it pass President Hoover has promised a veto. How the government is to pay this bonus under present financial troubles, is the big problem. The author of the bill wants more currency issued to be backed by an over supply of gold in the treasury, much more than is now necessary of the present law. This looks like inflation and the argument continues. That a million or more veterans are in actual need of their money at this time there can be no denial. If payment is ordered, many thousands who are now on good paying jobs, many of them in the government service, would also be entitled to their money.

It is to be regretted that the government had billions to loan to foreign countries, much of which will not be paid back, and yet we must plead poverty to the boys that carried the burden of the world war. Again the boys have not had quite a fair deal in the interest charges on withdrawals. The government is spending millions to care for disabled veterans in many ways, but there are now millions of them in destitute circumstances owing to unemployment. The country has had too much interest in Europe and not enough at home.

Al Smith, Democratic nominee for president four years ago, has upset the apple-cart for the Democratic politicians. Al will not likely be nominated but he will have strength to make a big noise, just as he did at the Jeffersonian banquet in Washington last week. Al went after Gov. Roosevelt with hammer and tongs and urged a cancellation of European war debts. Al has always posed as the friend of the poor and down trodden but in the debt cancellation program he takes up the fight of the international bankers and Wall Street. Cancellation means the American people must pay the debt of billions which would only reduce the purchasing power of the present dollar. Four years ago Al wanted prohibition repeal.

It begins to look now like the new Refinanc Corporation, latest government corporation with hundreds of millions behind it, is not meeting with popular favor and may go to salvage like a few other schemes to cure the depression. One railroad company was given several million dollars and the next day most of the money was paid directly by the railroad company to an international banking house in Wall Street. This has created a big stir in Government circles, and has been condemned by most banking interests and businessmen in general. The money was paid over, supposedly to make it possible for the railroad to make improvements, rebuild rolling stock and give aid to labor in many ways. As part of the corporation funds is to be loaned to farmers for seeding, a new question has arisen. The loan made the farmer is to be secured by a lien on the crop. Suppose weather conditions are not favorable and the crop is a failure, how is the farmer to settle with the government and how is the government to collect? Some unusual problems are arising each day that should give the average citizen concern. Roger Babson, noted economist a few days ago said, "So far the various campaigns to give out more money to enable people to buy more goods seem to have failed." The economic leaders in this country are now realizing more and more our big financial trouble is the millions loaned abroad in various ways.

Herb Mengert, Columbus correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, never fails to take advantage of the opportunity to boost the cause of prohibition repeal. He knows politics and politicians as few big daily correspondents do and usually has the right dope on things political. In his review of the Congressional primary situation in the state, he brings out a few facts relative to the Seventh District. He says: "The three-way fracas on the Republican side has the Wets and Dries guessing ... Former Senator L. T. Marshall, Greene County, is favored of organizations Republicans generally. As author of the famous Marshall bill he was dry once as they make them, but he is not so vocal now." Herb has no use for the pussy-footers on the liquor issue. Marshall's attitude at present with his campaign in the hands of a former lobbyist for Cincinnati saloon-keepers, is like an often repeated quotation of "more joy over the one that repents than the ninety and nine, etc."

The Mengert article is quite a contrast to the suspected attitude of the Anti Saloon League, which when it is able to get funds plays a strong hand in politics. A friend of the writer in and a Columbus newspaperman were discussing the kind of a campaign now being staged by Marshall, knowing that money was being solicited from the liberal interests. The friend in the presence of the newspaperman picked up the telephone and called for the office of the Anti Saloon League in Columbus, Sept. McNaught, answering. The friend asked the league director if they were to be interested in the Marshall campaign this year. The answer was yes. "I suppose if Marshall furnishes the money your office will send out a letter for him just before election", and McNaught replied that they would. The conversation closed and the phone was rang off. The friend and newspaperman then had a good laugh as to how the League would be handling tainted money donated by the liberal interests. The big laugh came when both roared over the fact that McNaught did not even take the trouble to ask who was talking. So a dry letter with a wet postage stamp may be expected between now and May 10th. Al Cane has nothing on the Seventh District politicians. Al would be a failure in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Mr. Howard Wildman, prominent farmer dropped into this office Tuesday and we had a very pleasant hour discussing some questions of interest due to present economic conditions. Mr. Wildman is a student of public affairs and he has gathered much interesting data in comparing prices of farm products of today with some years ago, tax rates and bonded debts. To our line of reasoning Mr. Wildman has the right view and he has become convinced that the problems facing the nation are so complicated that those who have the knowledge must conduct a mouth to mouth campaign in each county. He is much opposed to the present system of finance as is being staged in Washington. He clearly brings out that we have past the point of spending profit or surplus but that farmer, manufacturer, in fact all lines of business, are now drawing on capital, which of course cannot last long. No nation can long exist when all interests must draw on their capital to pay taxes. He further says that we all have had too much credit in the past and that more credit will only make matters worse. He cited the plan of the Refinancing Corporation, especially loans to farmers which must be guaranteed by tenant and the land-owner. Under present prices no farmer can not enough profit to repay the loan next November. Under the present plan adopted in Washington he thinks the smaller banks, meaning most banks outside of New York, will finally be unable to give financial aid for any purpose, the tendency being to force all financial transactions through Washington and New York. As to chain banking he feels the time would come when common people would not have free local banking facilities as we have had in the past. Mr. Wildman is active in the Clark County Tax Payers League.

Cuyahoga county is in a terrible situation financially. Several millions of taxes have not been paid and it is no doubt fortunate that such is the case for state examiners now report the county treasurer is more than $450,000 short in cash. The office has been closed for several days until a thorough checkup is made. Meantime two very important books belonging to the County Auditor that had been in use until the state closed the office, have disappeared. Gang political control has been costly to the county, in more ways than one. But Cuyahoga county is not the only county in Ohio that has important records missing in county offices. It looks like it may be necessary to cement the county books in cases for safe keeping.

TO THE VOTERS OF Greene County

The situation in Washington deserves your active and immediate attention. The National government is spending more money every year than the previous year, and you are one of those who must eventually pay the bill.

.....The total expenditures of major departments, commissions, etc., in 1927, when this country was at its peak of prosperity, was $1,964,000,000. For the year of 1932 the budget calls for $3,195,100,000 or an increase of 63%.

To finance these ever increasing distributions, Congress is planning huge additional taxes to be paid out of an already shrunken income of industry and individuals. Why doesn't Congress balance the national budget by reduction of expenses through efficient operation, and the curtailment of non-essential services and functions?

.....Your congressmen are in position to know if the continuance of this deplorable condition is necessary. I earnestly feel that we need more business administration in government, and less government in business.

The Herald points out to readers on page two an important announcement by E. E. Greiner, as a candidate for Congress. He is a thorough business man that has farm, manufacturing and banking interests, that are suffering from the same ill that local businessmen and farmers here have. He points out that cost of government is one of our greatest burdens. His vote in Congress for relief of his own business brings relief to all business interests in the district. He is not a politician; never sought office before and is running on a definite platform. Don't fail to read his announcement.

The local Masonic Lodge enjoyed a fine dinner and Washington bi-centennial celebration last Friday evening in Nagley's hall. Judge Frank M. Clevenger, Wilmington, gave the address of the evening and brought out many heretofore unpublished events in the life of George Washington that he had gathered from family connections in Virginia. He is a pleasing talker and the large number present, members and wife, thoroughly enjoyed his review of Washington's life. Music for the evening was furnished by a ladies' quartette, Misses Ruth and Jane West, Miss Bernice Elias, and Miss Doris Hartman, with M. Marion Hostetler presiding at the piano.

State Speakers Heard At Conference

The Greene County Conference on child health and protection was held Saturday at the First M. E. church in Xenia, Probate Judge S. C. Wright being chairman of the meeting.

Parental education as an important feature to help in combating child problems, was suggested by Dr. C. H. Carhoun, superintendent of the state bureau of juvenile research, at the conference.

Besides school and home training, every child must have the benefit of good health, for the child physically well is much less liable to develop behavior difficulties than the physically handicapped one, Dr. Carhoun said. He declared that there can be no hope of controlling juvenile delinquency by punishment, and that so-called "problem children" are an index of the cultural level of their community.

A. E. Roberts, of Cincinnati, boy scout executive, said that "society, and not the child, is to blame for juvenile delinquency, that the child is 'born all right.' Crime, he declared follows density of population, and is not racial, but a matter of environment."

Miss Mary Irene Atkinson, superintendent of the division of state charities, spoke at the noon luncheon in the church dining room on "Modern Trends in Public Welfare Work."

Dr. D. Oberthoffer, state supervisor of health and physical education, was unable to be present at the afternoon session, but his paper was read by Miss Atkinson. Dr. Charles Scott Berry, director of the bureau of special education, O. S. U., was the other afternoon speaker.

Supt. H. C. Aultman of the county schools, presided at the morning session, and Supt. Louis Hammerle, of the Xenia schools, at the afternoon session.

There are two things then that I have to ask you at this time. First, the settlement of arrears due me and second, the raising of my salary to the original sum promised in the bond of $500 per annum. I do think you cannot complain of this, if circumstances permitted I feel persuaded I could convince you that it is not dictated on my part by avarice but by necessity and justice to my family. I however do not stand and plead for it as a favor or gift but as a matter of justice and if the congregation do not think it due to me as a matter of justice I do not wish them to grant it. I hope that any action you may have on this subject may be communicated to me officially and not have me hear it by mere report. Hoping that the blessing of the church-head may rest on you all, and that we may be mutually blessings to each other.

REV. DWIGHT GUTHRIE INSTALLED WEDNESDAY EVENING

Rev. Dwight R. Guthrie was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church by the presbytery of Dayton, Wednesday evening.

Rev. William S. Harold of Middletown, moderator of presbytery, was in charge. The installation sermon was preached by Rev. W. P. Harziman, D. D., pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, Dayton, whom the Rev. Mr. Guthrie succeeded as pastor of the local church.

The charge to the people was delivered by Rev. Joseph A. Martin of Oxford and the charge to the pastor was by the Rev. Ralph H. Jennings of Greenville. The Rev. C. L. Plymate of Dayton, executive secretary of presbytery, was among other ministers present.

The Rev. Guthrie recently returned home after a year abroad, on a fellowship awarded him by the Western Theological seminary at Pittsburgh. He studied at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Previously he had served as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Indianapolis. He took charge of the local pulpit the first of this month, it having been vacant since last October.

MORE PROOF THAT PROSPERITY MUST BE AROUND THE CORNER

The competition that exists among the major gasoline companies in Ohio is unique. When one raises the price so do the others. Gasoline went up this week another cent for most towns while Youngstown and a few others escape. While this section gets it in the neck prices of wheat, corn, oats and hogs continue down along with U. S. Steel and other stocks, wages included. Yes, prosperity must be near for the oil companies, fewer sales and more profit. Last week Dayton purchased 10,000 gallons of gasoline by bid for 6 1-4 cents a gallon.

Lesson for April 24

ABRAM'S GENEROSITY TO LOT

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 13:5-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Generous Uncle.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—An Adventure in Friendship.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Too Generous to Quarrel.

Apparently a famine was sent upon Canaan soon after Abram entered it. Because of this famine, he went into Egypt. Doubtless the famine was sent because of the wickedness of the Canaanites, but it was so timed as to develop the graces of Abram's heart. He needed to be taught the fact of his own weakness in order to fully realize God's power and faithfulness. It would have been far better for him to have remained in Canaan with his famine, knowing that he was where the Lord had led him, than to go into Egypt.

1. Abram and Lot Go Out of Egypt (vv. 1-13).

1. Thurst out by Pharaoh (v. 1 of 12:18, 19). By prevarication Abram deceived the king concerning the relation of Sarai to himself, but when the truth was known that she was his wife instead of his sister, Pharaoh thrust him out. This is not the last time that a child of God was rebuked and thrust out by a man of the world.

2. His wealth greatly increased (v. 2). Although Abram was away from the place to which God had called him, his temporal possessions increased. Increase in riches is no sign that a man is in fellowship with God. 3. He went back to Bethel (vv. 3, 4). Although he had declined from the pathway of faith and had suffered shame and humiliation before a heathen king, when thrust out he had the good sense to go into the place of the altar, where his tent had been at the beginning. It was here that he called upon the name of the Lord. There is no record of his having done so while in Egypt. His Egypt experience cost him much spiritually, though he became rich there. He seems even to have lost his influence over Lot.

11. Abram and Lot Separate (vv. 5-13).

1. Strife between their herdmen (vv. 5-7). The goods of both Abram and Lot greatly increased. This increase in goods threatened strife between Abram and Lot. When they attempted to settle down, trouble arose between their herdmen. This is the first record of relatives quarrelling over financial matters. Riches often interfere with friendship. They engender greed and selfishness in men, and kindle jealousy and strife between them. For the chosen of God this to quarrel is utter folly, and criminal, especially when the enemies of the Lord's people look on.

2. Abram's magnanimous behavior (vv. 8, 9). He made Lot a generous proposition which relieved the disagreeable situation. Lot was allowed his choice. Though he owed every thing to Abram, he was allowed to choose that which suited him best. Abram's behavior in this case is a fine example of the art of living together peacefully.

3. Lot's selfish choice (vv. 10-13). His selfish heart prompted him to grasp for the best. His action shows that his stay in Egypt was ruinous to him. One cannot go into Egypt without being affected by it. This was a fatal choice for Lot. Though he felt a while prospered and even was elevated to high official position, it was an expensive undertaking for him.

111. Abram Delivers Lot (14:1-16). Lot, with all his goods, was taken away when the confederate kings came against Sodom. Though Lot's trouble was the result of his selfish choice, Abram's magnanimity of soul expressed itself by taking up arms to deliver him from the oppressor.

Lot is an example of one saved so as by fire (I Cor. 3:11-15). He is an example of the man who allows the world to get the better of him. He set his affections upon earthly things, and the time came when he had to separate from them. The world and its lusts pass away, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever (I John 2:15-17). Once his money and his family were in Sodom, he endured its wickedness while longing to escape from it (II Pet. 2:6-8).

In contrast with Lot who suffered from his evil choice Abram was greatly prospered. He grew rich in temporal things while at the same time he was rich toward God. Abram's whole life shows that those who make obedience to God first get the needed worldly things (I Kings 3:5-13; Matt. 6:33).

GEMS OF THOUGHT

No man is hurt but by himself.—Diogenes.

Education does not commence with the alphabet; it begins with a mother's look, with a father's nod of approbation.

Souls are made sweet by taking the acid foods out, and by putting something in—a great love, a new spirit, the spirit of Christ.
